

What can you discover about cooking in the museum?

Can you find a kitchen in Northolt barn?

- Do you think this building was a home?
- What makes you think this?

Walk down to the Toll House

- How did they cook in this home?
- Do you recognise any items in this kitchen?
- Notice the size of the kitchen and remember how many people lived in this home.
- How do you think they managed to eat together?

I wonder...

How many different ways of cooking have you found during this cooking trail at the museum?

What type of foods do we eat today which couldn't be cooked on an open fire?

Find the Prefab House

- What do you recognise in this kitchen?
- Can you compare items from this kitchen with machines we use today?
- Take note of the materials used—can you find any plastic items? What does this tell you?

Carefully walk down to the Iron Age House

- How did they cook in this house?
- Did they have an oven?
- What type of foods do you think could be cooked over a fire?
- What foods do you think were grown in the gardens outside the house?
